

Week 4 Matchup Recap

#3 The Great Bigsby (3-1)

148.2 - 105.98

#12 Curious George (0-4)

A high scoring early window between Thinh and Jack. Justin Fields somehow gets 4 passing touchdowns, almost matching his total fpts for the first 3 weeks while AJ Brown gets 34 fpts with 9 recs, 175yds, and 2 TDs. Even with Brown's performance, Thinh is projected 40 points over Jack with Thinh's KWIII and Travis Kelce are still yet to play. The Steelers D/ST somehow get embarrassed by the Houston Texans, giving Jack a NEGATIVE -6 points. Brandon Aiyuk (17.8) keeps Justin Herbert in check (23.38) as Thinh secures a 98% projection to win. Jack will need Zach Charbonnet to jump KW3 in usage and outscore Travis Kelce and Butker to make a miraculous comeback. Jack swaps out Charbonnet for Breida but it was all for naught. Jack starts the season 0-4 and will need a big streak of wins to get into the playoffs soon.

#7 Full Chubb (2-2)

94.04 - 106.1

#11 No Hamstrings, Many Problems (2-2)

A competitive matchup after the first set of the games as Cole Kmet came up huge for Nikhil with 24.1 pts including 2 TDs. But Will has two major performances from Anthony Richardson (29.6) and Puka Nacua (26.8) to make up for Chris Olave's dud (0.9). Will is hoping that Josh Jacobs and Breece Hall can outscore Garrett Wilson and Deebo Samuel for the underdog win. A very tough afternoon for Nikhil as Deebo Samuel only gets 0.6 pts (no recs) and Josh Jacobs gets 23.9fpts for Will. Will is the favorite leading into SNF but it's very possible NYJ will need to throw more than run as they play against the Chiefs, helping Garrett Wilson's chances. Honestly, a pretty good showing for Garrett Wilson and the Jets but the deficit was too big for Nikhil to comeback.

#5 Jordan Hate (3-1)

118.54 - 67.56

#4 Jefferson Starship (2-2)

A somewhat pedestrian matchup as only three players on both sides got over 20 points. A good week for Jordan as Alvin Kamara returns and nets 14.9 points. FAAB pickup CJ Stroud continues his strong NFL rookie season with 21.84 fpts for Jordan, outplaying Myles' Kirk Cousins (9.56). And an unexpected DJ Moore signature game as he gets 23.1 points for Jordan. This matchup is virtually wrapped up after the first games as Myles will need the 49ers D/ST to outscore Darren Waller, Seahawks D/ST, and Jake Moody to win this week.

This matchup is over as Myles finishes with 67.57 pts and Jordan still has two players to play after the afternoon games. Myles gets eliminated in Survivor by 0.04 pts after Arizona accumulates offensive yards, dropping 49ers D/ST scoring.

#10 Too Many Cooks in the Kitchen (2-2)

152.82 - 136.82

#6 Silence of the Lambs (1-3)

An absolute banger of the week as both teams are projected for 150+ points after the first set of games. There's too many players to call out but just know, Jeremiah's Lamar/Mandrews stack gets 50pts, FAAB Pick up De'Von Achane gets 25.5pts, and Stefon Diggs secures THREE touchdowns for 33.0pts. Bahri is keeping up with DMont (33.1fpts) and will hope to have big performances out of CeeDee Lamb, Keenan Allen, and Brock Purdy to claw his way back into the week. One thing for sure is, both teams would easily win against any other team this week. Bahri needed a huge boom week from his WRs but they weren't able to deliver. CeeDee Lamb wasn't needed as the Cowboys destroyed the Patriots and Keenana Allen was only able to secure 3 catches with 1 TD. Jeremiah should win this matchup unless some unlikely things happen; the NYJ blazing through the Chiefs D/ST and/or Lockett losing multiple fumbles. Bahri drops to 1-3 while having some of the best scores weekly, surely his luck will turn around at some point.

#8 Just Joshin (2-2)

128.3 - 108.32

#1 No This is Patrick (3-1)

Maybe Tom is the real fraud here as he puts up a poor performance as the #1 team in the early window. Amari Cooper falls back to Earth with only 2.1 points. He will need a big week from his other players to match Max's Josh Allen (36.0) pts. This will be a tough one for Tom as Max still has CMC and DK Metcalf to play with his early lead from the 1PM games. An absolute ginormous showing for CMC as he gets 45.2 fpts with FOUR touchdowns. Tom's got a massive hill to climb as he will need the Chiefs to completely embarrass the Jets with his players Patrick Mahomes and Isiah Pacheco on SNF. The game needed to be a shootout for Tom to potentially win but the Jets were able to contain Mahomes and Pacheco. Max goes up even while we lose our last undefeated team of the season, Tom..

#9 Chase The Money (1-3)

85.26 - 67.6

#2 Ass Thanos (2-2)

Both team didn't have a great start to the week as both teams are projected under 90fpts. Joe Burrow and the Bengals look lost and can't extend any drives, severely hampering Roush's Burrow/Higgins stack. Cal gets an advantage as Ja'Marr Chases absorbs catches for some free points. Roush will need Tony Pollard and James Conner to outscore Stevenson and Hollywood Brown to not lose to underdog Cal. Cal secures the win as Tony Pollard only had to play 3 quarters in the DAL/NE game and James Conner wasn't able to see the endzone for Roush. Roush narrowly survives by 0.04 pts to stay in the Survivor competition and hopes this is just a bad week and won't become a trend.